Subject: Emerging strategy review - comment.

Dear Sir/madam,

I did take a look at the online survey as a means of submitting comments. I found it required a very in depth knowledge of the Emerging Strategy Review document which in my opinion is an unrealistic expectation for the average person.

I would simply like to state that the size of the development at Sharpness is wholly inappropriate and it will destroy the community for good. Whilst I accept housing growth is required I feel growth of the size of the planned sharpness development will surely destroy the existing community. Planners should not be sacrificing existing communities by proposing such large developments as an easy way to meet government targets.

Could you please advise me how I can keep track of progressing the Berkeley Cluster.

Regards
