Dear Sirs

I understand that you, as a local authority, are planning to give permission for a large quantity of dwellings to be built on greenbelt land in your area.

Whilst I appreciate that new homes are needed it is disappointing if they adversely impact on the environment, destroy wildlife habitats and are detrimental to the eco balance.

We must all be aware that building on designated green land is not the way forward & the protection of the environment should be paramount. If local authorities allow building with impunity the environment/wildlife suffers and in some cases can never recover from the impact of loss of habitat, breeding grounds etc. Once Greenbelt has been built on it becomes like the dinosaurs - extinct. Communities are irreparably damaged by loss of nature/recreation facilities & wildlife. It fractures communities.

I hope that you will take my comments into consideration when coming to a decision.

Kind regards
